

Meet Janet Davis: Interim Assistant Principal, Clark School

Assuming the role of interim assistant principal for the current academic year, Janet Davis, former preschool and early childhood coordinator at Clark School, brings an array of strengths to this administrative position that supports our youngest learners, their teachers, and their families. In addition to having a solid background in special education, Mrs. Davis also maintains a license as a speech-language pathologist and a credential as a school principal. Mrs. Davis resides in Amherst with her husband and two sons, both of whom are recent graduates of Souhegan High School. Mrs. Davis provides a familiar face at Clark School and her strong connections to both Clark-Wilkins and the area preschools will serve well the needs of the Amherst community. Parents and individuals wishing to speak with Mrs. Davis may reach her at 673-2343 at Clark School.
