

Meet Kathleen McIntyre
Clark-Wilkins Library Media Specialist

In her role as the library-media specialist at Clark-Wilkins, Kathie McIntyre assumes responsibility for ordering all of the library books and media for both schools. In addition to her daily library responsibilities, Mrs. McIntyre also supervises the new “mini-technology” lab that connects “technology” with the library at Wilkins. The “mini-lab” allows students and staff members to conduct research, complete projects, and access the internet beyond regularly scheduled library classes.

In addition to her duties as the instructional librarian, Mrs. McIntyre also serves as the coordinator of the annual Clark-Wilkins Invention Convention, chairperson of the Clark-Wilkins Retirement Party Committee, and representative on the School Improvement and Instructional Leadership Teams. Mrs. McIntyre also assumes leadership for the “Food for Share” collection that takes place in November and serves as the coordinator for the annual “Clark-Wilkins Writing Festival”. Mrs. McIntyre wears many hats beyond the ones typically associated with a library media specialist. Kathie McIntyre’s solid work ethic, commitment to overall student learning and literacy, and efforts to extend herself beyond the Clark-Wilkins Schools make her a stellar educator whose knowledge, skills, and commitment benefit all of the students, staff members, and families who interact with her.
